Report on Career Counseling Talk on Job Oriented Computer Courses
On 18.11.2017

Need

Most of our students after graduation want to learn a skill based course because they come from economically backward family and want to support their families earning something else as early as possible. So, most of them get into computer based courses having easy entrance and affordable fees structure without going in depth analysis on employable opportunities of the same. Discussion made with some employers who recruit workers with computer skill, it has been observed that in the job market there is always a lack in demand quality and supply qualities of the workers who have already completed computer courses. Different computer courses have different job opportunities. In market, if there is demand computer worker having knowledge of hands on skill in the line of printing, but there is over supply of PGDC obtainer having little knowledge on type setting and editing and the allies. This mismatch cannot meet the requirement of early job engagement. Computer knowledge for clerical job though matters, but job opportunities in this line is not at par. Some computer courses help the learners to get self-employability. On this, back drop, department of economics organized a counseling programme on job-oriented computer courses on 18.11.2017.

Resource Person

To grace this occasion Mr. Devojoyoti Borah, the chief director of UnikaPrakashan and a regular popular column writer on the line of computer and digital world as well as electronic opportunities. He is also winner GhonshyamGoswami award for his literary contribution in computer and digital world. He has also got published more than 8 books in this line.

She also encouraged the students to take such opportunities provided by the college before they going out. Such programmes would make them to be more practical fitting with the need of the job market. With these words

Mrs. Bordoloi declared inauguration of the programme. Mrs. PurnimaBordoloi, the retired HOD of Zoology department of the college shared her experienced with the participants.

Deliberation of Resource Person

Mr. Devojoyoti Borah in his deliberation categorically explained different courses of computer available in neighbouring localities. He also pointed out the length of the courses, the cost of the courses and the job opportunities behind the courses. He analyzed the computer courses which have the chance of self-employability. Lastly he mentioned in which areas in Jorhat city lacks what type of computers and where. He pointed out the COC on Computer Based Printing run by the Bahona College is most suitable for developing employability in the area of printing. Four students made some queries on the utility of some computer courses and genuinity of some private institutions providing computer courses. Mr. Bora clarified with examples all the queries.

Conclusion

Mrs. Binoda Bora, at the end of the session thanked the resource person for his fruitful deliberation and also all the participants and the chief guests making the session successful.

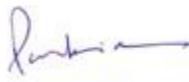

Outcomes

The aforesaid programme helped the participants to choose the path of computer courses after graduation. They have gathered knowledge not only on the courses, but also their expenditure and job opportunities. Thus they were able to modify their goals and making themselves ready for it in advance. Report on Motivational Speech
 Department of Economics, Bahoma College
 Date 15.06.2019

Need

Bahoma College is situated in a rural area, just two kilometers far from the river Brahmaputra. The feeding area of the college is economically backward and majority of the inhabitants are of reserved category or of non-creamy layer. Of all students of Bahoma College, nearly ninety percent students come from this area. So, naturally they lag behind their counterparts of urban and sub-urban areas in personality development and in developing a dream for future attainment. It is a fact that a career without any future perception is just like a boat without radar. In this context the department feels that a motivational speech should be arranged along with the farewell programme that the students were going to be organized on 15.06.2019.

About the Speaker

Who should be the motivational speaker, discussing on this matter at departmental meeting, it has been finally decided that Dr. Achyut Akash Bora, our ex-student of 2003 batch would be the best to invite. Because he made himself what he is today is a result of big effort and struggle. Now he is working as the principal at the State Institute of Panchayat and Rural Development (SIPRD). So, he was invited when he responded positively and eagerly.

Working of the Session

The programme was presided over by Mrs. Binoda Bora, the Head of the Department, Economics. The first part of the programme was covered by the farewell session of outgoing students. At the starting Dr. Achyut Akash Bora was introduced with the students and felicitated. Next the farewell agenda was accomplished by the existing students.

Next, at the starting of motivational speech Dr. Rafique Ahmed, the associate professor of the department stated citing some success stories why a dream, that is an aim is necessary to proceed in life. He welcomed Dr. Bora to the department thanked for gracing the occasion.

Then the president requested Dr. Bora to deliver his speech. In his speech Dr. Bora recollected his experience in Bahoma College as student and cooperation of his teachers. He recalled his journey to success. Citing several success stories experienced in service life he encouraged the students to be faithful to their parents, to the teachers and the society as a whole. He also explained that without dream and motivation effort is waste that dream. The success does not fall from the sky. He advised them if struggle proceed so it can also spread the flower with spread and flourish that is true if necessary. He also shared the success of his journey in his service life. Students also interacted with him about the provisions of placements under state government's departments. He clarified the queries.

Conclusion

The provision, in his speech exposed that the difficulties made by Dr. Bora would help both existing and outgoing students. She also shared her own experience as students in the same line. A real role model for students. She recalled the success and imperfections of Dr. Achyut Akash Bora as student in Bahoma College. He also mentioned those qualities in university level. She thanked Dr. Bora for keeping request was made to help students and for delivering such a motivational speech. All the existing students for listening all the things attentively. The session came to closure after vote of thanks by Dr. Binoda Bora, assistant professor of the department.

Outcomes

It was expected that such motivational speech, particularly by well-established ex-students of the department would inspire some positive changes in the mind of the existing students and it would encourage them to proceed for a bright future.
